

FROM: RAL Companies & Affiliates LLC

Contact: Rubenstein Associates, Inc.
Anna LaPorte
212-843-8048; alaporte@rubenstein.com

ONE BROOKLYN BRIDGE PARK ANNOUNCES GRAND OPENING OF WAG CLUB

Doggy Daycare Center Offers Pet Services Ranging From Overnight Care to Grooming to K-9 Photography

BROOKLYN, NY – October 21, 2011 – One Brooklyn Bridge Park welcomed Wag Club, a first-class pet facility dedicated to man’s best friend, to the building with the store’s official grand opening on October 20th. The pooch friendly store is conveniently located on the ground floor of Brooklyn’s top-selling condominium building, the only residential development situated in Brooklyn Bridge Park.

“We are thrilled that Wag Club is now open and is providing our residents, community and park patrons with the best dog services available,” said Developer Ian Levine, COO/CFO of RAL Companies. “We look forward to bringing in more retailers and restaurants to One Brooklyn Bridge Park and continuing to make it the most sought-after development for both retailers and prospective buyers.”

Just steps from Pier 6’s dog run, Wag Club gives pet owners the opportunity to show their furry friends how much they care by treating them to the boutiques ultra-luxury services, including grooming by a world-class groomer, who uses only the highest quality organic and all natural shampoos.

“We want Wag Club to be a place where customers feel comfortable bringing Fido for all of their grooming and daycare needs, as well as for one-on-one advice on anything doggie related,” said John Squires, owner of the newly opened Wag Club. “One Brooklyn Bridge, being right next to the Pier 6 Dog Run in this gorgeous park, is the perfect place for our store because it allows our four-legged clients to enjoy playful exchange and social activity.”

The Wag Club is the only dog facility in Brooklyn of its kind featuring 24/7 climate control, a Hepa air purification system and non-porous rubberized flooring that is gentle for paws and joints during playtime. With the help of his Jack Russell Lucy and utilizing his background in dog behavior, Squires founded Wag Club, a place that would ensure that each dog is given the best care, love and attention possible.

In addition to grooming, Wag Club offers overnight care, dog walking services, K-9 portraits and training from Robert Haussmann of Dogboy, Inc, who has extensive experience and trained a number of “celebrity” owned dogs.

Located within the 85-acre Brooklyn Bridge Park, at 360 Furman Street, One Brooklyn Bridge Park is a 438-unit development that offers a variety of spacious loft apartments, townhouses and penthouses. Already 65% sold out, the building offers one of the borough’s largest residents-only amenity packages, which includes a fully-equipped fitness center, yoga room, children’s playrooms, art room, music room, media lounge, and 7,000 square feet of landscaped gardens. Additional features include indoor virtual golf and driving range, outdoor putting green, and onsite valet and concierge.

The Sales and Design Center is located in the building, and for more information, contact (718) 330-0030 or visit www.onebrooklyn.com.
